Overview

Our vision at Peterborough Diocese Education Trust (the Trust) is;

‘Working together for every child to realise their God given potential to flourish.’

Part of fulfilling this vision, is helping our pupils embrace the challenges of creating happy and successful lives. In order to do this, they ‘need knowledge that will enable them to make informed decisions about their wellbeing, health and relationships and to build their self-efficacy’¹. Our intention is that our pupils will be able to put this knowledge into practice ‘as they develop the capacity to make sound decisions when facing risks, challenges and complex contexts’ and that the subjects, as outlined in this policy, will ‘support them to develop resilience, to know how and when to ask for help, and to know where to access support’.

The Church of England has a charter for ‘Faith Sensitive and Inclusive Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education and Health Education.’ We believe the Charter embraces the ethos of our Trust. A copy of the Charter is attached to this policy (Appendix 5) and we will be guided by the principles within it.

This policy is underpinned by the Trust’s commitment to inclusiveness and eliminating discrimination in accordance with the Equality Act 2010; advancing equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it, and to foster good relations across all characteristics.

Context and Guiding Principles

All of Relationships, Sex and Health Education is set in the context of a wider whole-school approach to supporting pupils to be safe, happy and prepared for life beyond school. It is complemented, and supported by, the Trust’s wider policies on behaviour, SEND, respect for equality and diversity, bullying and safeguarding. It sits within the context of a school / academy’s broader ethos and approach to developing pupils socially, morally, spiritually and culturally; and its pastoral care system.

Relationships and Health Education is compulsory in all primary schools / academies from September 2020. We choose to teach the compulsory content of Relationships and Health Education within a wider programme of Personal, Social, Health Education, integrated within a broad and balanced curriculum. This compulsory content is age appropriate and developmentally appropriate. It is taught sensitively and inclusively, with respect to the backgrounds and beliefs of pupils and parents / carers. The curriculum on Health Education complements, and is supported by, the school’s / academy’s wider education on healthy lifestyles through physical education, food technology, science, sport and extra-curricular activity.

Relationships and Health Education supports the wider work of our schools / academies in helping to foster pupil wellbeing and develop resilience and character that we know are fundamental to pupils being happy, successful and productive members of society. It complements the development of virtues such as kindness, integrity, generosity and honesty.

We are clear that parents and carers are the prime educators for pupils in relation to the above. We recognise that our schools / academies complement and reinforce this role.

Aim

The overriding aim of Relationships, Sex and Health Education, outlined in this policy, is to put in place the key building blocks for healthy, respectful relationships (focusing on family and friendships, in all contexts, including online) alongside an essential understanding of how to be healthy. Teaching about mental wellbeing is central to this. We know that children and young people are increasingly experiencing challenges, and that young people are at particular risk of feeling lonely. Teaching about mental wellbeing will give them the knowledge and capability to take care of themselves and know how to receive support if problems arise.

Statutory Requirements

The Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education and Health Education (England) Regulations 2019, made under sections 34 and 35 of the Children and Social Work Act 2017, make Relationships and Health Education compulsory for all pupils in primary schools.

This policy is based on the guidance ‘Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education (RSE) and Health Education: Statutory guidance for governing bodies, proprietors, headteachers, principals, senior leadership teams, teachers’ which contains information on what schools / academies should do and sets out the legal duties with which schools / academies must comply when teaching Relationships Education and Health Education.

This policy should be read in conjunction with the following policies and guidance:

- Keeping Children Safe in Education (statutory guidance);
- The Trust’s Safeguarding / Child Protection Policy;
- The Trust’s Equality Information and Objectives Statement;
- The Trust’s SEND Policy;
- The Behaviour Policy; and
- The Trust’s Prevention of Radicalisation and Extremism Policy.

Additional guidance can be found in the following documents:

- Respectful School Communities: Self Review and Signposting Tool (a tool to support a whole school approach that promotes respect and discipline);
- Behaviour and Discipline in Schools (advice for schools, including advice for appropriate behaviour between pupils);
- Equality Act 2010 and schools;

- SEND code of practice: 0 to 25 years (statutory guidance);
- Alternative Provision (statutory guidance);
- Mental Health and Behaviour in Schools (advice for schools);
- Preventing and Tackling Bullying (advice for schools, including advice on cyberbullying);
- Sexual violence and sexual harassment between children in schools (advice for schools);
- The Equality and Human Rights Commission Advice and Guidance (provides advice on avoiding discrimination in a variety of educational contexts); and
- Promoting Fundamental British Values as part of SMSC in schools (guidance for maintained schools on promoting basic important British values as part of pupils' spiritual, moral, social and cultural (SMSC) development).

Policy Development

This policy has been developed in consultation with staff, parents/carers, governors and the Trust Board. Policy development has been divided into two parts: whole policy and academy specific details and has involved the following steps:

Whole Policy Development:

1. An initial draft policy was prepared by the Trust's Central Executive with reference to all relevant information including relevant national and local guidance.
2. The initial draft policy was submitted to a working group of Trust Headteachers for input and consultative purposes.
3. The revised draft policy was submitted to a Trust-wide parents' reference group for consultation. All parents across the Trust were invited to take part.
4. The revised draft policy was submitted to the Ethos, Standards and Effectiveness committee (a committee of the Trust Board).
5. Ratification: following amendments, the final proposed policy was shared with, and ratified by, the Trust Board.

Academy Specific Policy Development:

6. An initial draft of Academy Specific details, including an overview of the programme of study to be taught, was prepared by individual academy Senior Leaders and Academy Governance Committee members (AGC).
7. The initial draft, including the overview of the programme of study, was submitted to staff at each academy for consultative purposes.
8. The revised draft was submitted to a parents' reference group for consultation.
9. The final version of the Academy Specific details was appended to the Trust policy.

Relationships Education

What is Relationships Education?

The focus in primary school is teaching the fundamental building blocks and characteristics of positive relationships (which involves helping children understand relationships and behaviours that are not positive), with particular reference to friendships, family relationships and relationships with other children and with adults.

The subject content

Relationships Education starts with pupils being taught about:

- what a relationship is;
- what friendship is;
- what family means; and
- who the people are who can support them.

From the beginning of primary school, building on early education, pupils should be taught:

- how to take turns;
- how to treat each other with kindness, consideration and respect;
- the importance of honesty and truthfulness;
- permission seeking and giving; and
- the concept of personal privacy.

Establishing personal space and boundaries, showing respect and understanding the differences between appropriate and inappropriate / unsafe physical and other contact are the forerunners of teaching about consent, which takes place at secondary school.

Respect for others is taught in an age-appropriate way, for example, in terms of understanding one's own and others' boundaries in play and in negotiations about space and possessions.

Healthy friendships and relationships:

From the start of primary school, teachers talk explicitly about the features of healthy friendships, family relationships and other relationships which young children are likely to encounter. This enables pupils to form a strong, early understanding of the features of relationships that are likely to lead to happiness and security. This will also help them to recognise any less positive relationships when they encounter them.

Relationships – online:

The principles of positive relationships also apply online especially as many children in primary school will already be using the internet. When teaching relationships content, teachers will address online safety and appropriate behaviour in a way that is relevant to pupils' lives. Teachers include content on how information and data is shared and used, for example, sharing pictures; understanding that many websites are businesses and hence, may use information provided by users in ways they might not expect.

Families:

Teaching about families requires sensitive and well-judged teaching. Families of many forms provide a nurturing environment for children. (Families can include for example, single parent families, LGBT parents, families headed by grandparents, adoptive parents, foster parents / carers amongst other structures.) Care is taken to ensure that there is no stigmatisation of children based on their home circumstances.

Development of personal virtues:

A growing ability to form strong and positive relationships with others depends on the deliberate development of positive personal virtues. Encouraging the development and practice of resilience, for example, helps pupils to believe they can achieve, persevere with tasks, work towards long-term rewards and continue despite setbacks. Alongside understanding the importance of self-respect and self-worth, pupils should develop personal virtues including honesty, integrity, courage, humility, kindness, generosity, trustworthiness and a sense of justice.

Positive mental and emotional wellbeing:

Relationships Education also creates an opportunity to enable pupils to be taught about positive emotional and mental wellbeing, including how friendships can support mental wellbeing.

Recognising abuse and boundaries:

Through Relationships Education, we teach pupils the knowledge they need to recognise and to report abuse, including emotional, physical and sexual abuse. This is delivered by focusing on boundaries and privacy, ensuring pupils understand that they have rights over their own bodies. This also includes understanding boundaries in friendships with peers, in families and with others, in all contexts, including online. Pupils are taught to know how to report concerns and seek advice when they suspect or know that something is wrong. At all stages, teaching pupils about making sensible decisions to stay safe (including online) is balanced with the fact that it is never the fault of a child who is abused and why victim blaming is always wrong.

See Appendix 2 for the statutory End of Primary School Expectations and Appendix 3 for the Trust's Expectations regarding sensitive aspects.

How Relationships Education is taught and who is responsible for teaching it Effective teaching ensures that core knowledge is broken down into units of manageable size and communicated clearly to pupils, in a carefully sequenced way, within a planned programme of lessons. Teaching includes sufficient well-chosen opportunities and contexts for pupils to embed new knowledge so that it can be used confidently in real life situations.

Details of how individual schools / academies teach Relationships Education, and those responsible for the teaching, are set out in Appendix 1.

Health Education (Physical Health and Mental Well-being)

In addition to the content above, we also teach Health Education, both physical health (including puberty) and mental well-being. The national curriculum for Science also includes subject content in related areas, such as the main external body parts, the human body as it grows from birth to old age (including puberty) and reproduction in some plants and animals.

What is Health Education?

The aim of teaching pupils about physical health and mental wellbeing is:

- to give them the information that they need to make good decisions about their own health and wellbeing;
- to enable them to recognise what is normal and what is an issue in themselves and others; and
- when issues arise, to know how to seek support as early as possible from appropriate sources.

Physical health and mental wellbeing are interlinked, and it is important that our pupils understand that good physical health contributes to good mental wellbeing, and vice versa. It is important for schools / academies to promote pupils' self-control and ability to self-regulate, and strategies for doing so. This will enable them to become confident in their ability to achieve well and persevere, even when they encounter setbacks or when their goals are distant, and to respond calmly and rationally to setbacks and challenges. This integrated, whole-school / academy approach to the teaching and promotion of health and wellbeing should have a positive impact on behaviour and attainment.

Our effective, quality teaching aims to reduce stigma attached to health issues, in particular those to do with mental wellbeing. We engender an atmosphere that encourages openness. This means that our pupils feel they can check their understanding and seek any necessary help and advice as they gain knowledge about how to promote good health and wellbeing.

We focus on teaching the characteristics of good physical health and mental wellbeing. Teachers are clear that mental wellbeing is a normal part of daily life, in the same way as physical health.

The Subject Content

Health Education starts with pupils being taught about the benefits and importance of:

- daily exercise;
- good nutrition; and
- sufficient sleep.

It gives pupils the language and knowledge to understand the normal range of emotions that everyone experiences. This enables pupils to articulate how they are feeling, develop the language to talk about their bodies, health and emotions and judge whether what they are feeling and how they are behaving is appropriate and proportionate for the situations that they experience.

Teachers go on to talk about the steps pupils can take to protect and support their own and others' health and wellbeing, including:

- simple self-care techniques;
- personal hygiene;
- prevention of health and wellbeing problems; and

- basic first aid.

Emphasis is given to the positive two-way relationship between good physical health and good mental wellbeing, and the benefits to mental wellbeing of physical exercise and time spent outdoors.

Pupils are also taught the benefits of hobbies, interests and participation in their own communities. This teaching makes clear that people are social beings and that spending time with others, taking opportunities to consider the needs of others and practising service to others, including in organised and structured activities and groups (for example the scouts or girl guide movements), are beneficial for health and wellbeing.

Pupils are taught about the benefits of rationing time spent online and the risks of excessive use of electronic devices. In Key Stage 2, pupils are taught why social media, computer games and online gaming have age restrictions and our aim is that they should be equipped to manage common difficulties encountered online.

A firm foundation in the benefits and characteristics of good health and wellbeing will enable teachers to talk about isolation, loneliness, unhappiness, bullying and the negative impact of poor health and wellbeing.

Puberty is covered in Health Education for Years 5 and 6. This ensures male and female pupils are prepared for changes they and their peers will experience. The onset of menstruation can be confusing or even alarming for girls if they are not prepared. Hence, pupils are taught key facts about the menstrual cycle. (Adequate and sensitive arrangements are also put in place to help girls prepare for, and manage, menstruation including requests for menstrual products).

See Appendix 2 for the statutory End of Primary School Expectations and Appendix 3 for the Trust's Expectations regarding sensitive aspects.

How Health Education is taught and who is responsible for teaching it

Details of how individual schools / academies will teach Health Education, and those responsible for the teaching, are set out in Appendix 1.

Sex Education in Years 5 and 6

Whilst Relationships and Health Education are compulsory in all primary schools, Sex Education is not. However, it is important that the transition phase before moving to secondary school supports pupils' ongoing emotional and physical development effectively. In line with DfE recommendations, therefore, our schools / academies incorporate a sex education programme to meet the needs of their pupils, tailored to the age and the physical and emotional maturity of their pupils and that has regard to their religious background. This ensures that both boys and girls are prepared for the changes that adolescence brings. Building on the knowledge of the human life cycle set out in the national curriculum for Science, pupils are taught how a baby is conceived and born.

Individual schools / academies ensure that their teaching and materials are appropriate, having regard to the age and religious backgrounds of their pupils. Individual schools / academies also take into account the significance of other factors, such as any special educational needs or disabilities of their pupils.

Details of the Trust's requirements for Sex Education are set out in Appendix 3.

As well as consulting parents / carers more generally about the school's / academy's overall policy, our schools / academies consult parents / carers prior to the teaching of Sex Education about the detailed content of what is to be taught. This process will include offering parents an opportunity to digest the materials / resources that will be used when teaching Sex Education. It should also include signposting further resources to support them in talking to their children about Sex Education and how to link this with what is being taught in school / the academy.

Right to be Excused from Sex Education (Right to Withdraw)

Primary schools / academies that choose to teach Sex Education must allow parents / carers a right to request that their child is withdrawn from this teaching. Before granting any such request the headteacher will discuss the request with parents / carers and clarify the nature and purpose of the curriculum. The headteacher will also discuss with parents / carers the benefits of receiving this important education and any detrimental effects that withdrawal might have on the child. This could include any social and emotional effects of being excluded, as well as the likelihood of the child hearing their peers' version of what was said in the classes, rather than what was directly said by the teacher.

Schools / academies will also take into account the significance of other factors, such as any special educational needs or disabilities of their pupils and will discuss these factors with the parents/carers.

Once the above discussions have taken place the school / academy should respect the parents' / carers' request to withdraw the child. Requests for withdrawal should be put in writing using the form found in Appendix 4 of this policy and addressed to the Headteacher / Head of School. Alternative work will be given to pupils who are withdrawn from Sex Education.

Working with External Agencies

Working with external organisations can enhance delivery of these subjects, bringing in specialist knowledge and different ways of engaging with young people. As with any visitor, schools / academies are responsible for ensuring that they check the visitor or visiting organisation's credentials. Schools / academies should also ensure that the teaching delivered by the visitor fits with their planned programme and their published policy. It is important that schools / academies discuss the detail of how the visitor will deliver their sessions and ensure that the content is age-appropriate and accessible for the pupils. Schools / academies should ask to see the materials visitors will use as well as a lesson plan in advance, so that they can ensure it meets the full range of pupils' needs (e.g. special educational needs).

It is important to agree how confidentiality will work in any lesson and that the visitor understands how safeguarding concerns should be dealt with in line with school / academy policy (see Safeguarding section below.)

Use of visitors should be to enhance teaching by an appropriate member of the teaching staff, rather than as a replacement for teaching by those staff.

Managing Difficult Questions

Primary-age pupils will often ask their teachers or other adults questions pertaining to sex or sexuality which go beyond what is set out for Relationships and Health Education and / or Sex Education. Given ease of access to the internet, children whose questions go unanswered may turn to inappropriate sources of information. Teachers should use a variety of strategies to provide opportunities for children to ask questions e.g. the use of a question box. However, questions should not be posed anonymously so that any safeguarding issues that arise can be dealt with effectively, in liaison with the DSL.

Children of the same age may be developmentally at different stages, leading to differing types of questions or behaviours. Teaching methods should take account of these differences (including specific special educational needs or disabilities) and consider the potential for discussion on an individual basis (with two adults present) or in small groups. Schools / academies will consider what is appropriate and inappropriate in a whole-class setting; it may be that some questions are better not dealt with in front of a whole class. Teachers should only answer questions that are within the year group's Sex Education curriculum. Children should be told to ask their parents if questions go beyond the Sex Education curriculum offered at the school appropriate to their year group.

Details of how individual schools / academies handle such questions are set out in Appendix 1.

How delivery of the content of RSHE is made accessible to all pupils, including those with SEND

We recognise the significance of other factors, such as any special educational needs or disabilities of our pupils when teaching these subjects and our teaching methods take account of these differences. High quality teaching that is differentiated and personalised will be the starting point to ensure accessibility.

Links with the National Curriculum:

Our schools / academies work hard to ensure that the RSHE programme of study complements, and does not duplicate, content covered in the national curriculum subjects of Science, Computing and PE.

At Key Stages 1 and 2, the national curriculum for Science includes teaching about the main external parts of the body and changes to the human body as it grows from birth to old age, including puberty.

The national curriculum for Computing aims to ensure that all pupils can understand and apply the fundamental principles and concepts of computer science, including logic, algorithms and data representation. It also covers e-safety, with progression in the content to reflect the different and escalating risks that young people face as they get older. This includes how to use technology safely, responsibly, respectfully and securely, how to keep personal information private and where to go for help and support.

The national curriculum for PE aims to ensure that pupils develop competence to excel in a broad range of physical activities, are physically active for sustained periods of time, engage in competitive sport and activities and lead healthy, active lives.

Safeguarding

At the heart of Relationships, Sex and Health Education is a focus on keeping children safe and we recognise, as a Trust, our important role in preventative education. In line with Keeping Children Safe in Education (KCSIE) and the Trust's Safeguarding / Child Protection Policy, we teach our pupils about safeguarding, including how to stay safe online, as part of providing a broad and balanced curriculum.

We also recognise that good practice allows pupils an open forum to discuss potentially sensitive issues. Such discussions can lead to increased reporting of safeguarding concerns and, therefore, we make our pupils aware of how to raise their concerns and how these will be handled. This includes processes for when they have a concern about a friend or peer.

All staff know what to do if a pupil tells them that they are being abused or neglected or are witnessing abuse, and how to manage the requirement to maintain an appropriate level of confidentiality. Schools / academies will ensure that pupils understand how confidentiality will be handled in a lesson and what might happen if they choose to raise a concern.

If any school / academy within the Trust invites external agencies in to support delivery of Relationships, Sex and Health Education, they must agree in advance of the session how a safeguarding concern should be dealt with by the external visitor – see above.

Monitoring and Evaluation

The delivery of Relationships, Sex and Health Education is monitored by the Headteacher / Head of School. The Headteacher / Head of School is responsible for ensuring that it is taught consistently across the school / academy in line with this policy, and for managing requests to withdraw pupils from Sex Education.

Monitoring and evaluation of the implementation of this policy in each individual school / academy is the responsibility of the Academy Governance Committee.

Approval and Review

Appendix 1 of this policy, where individual school / academy specific information is contained, is approved by the school's / academy's Academy Governance Committee. The full policy is approved by the Trust's Board of Directors and reviewed every three years.

Appendix 3

Trust Requirements for Specific Elements of RSHE

The following outlines the Trust requirements for elements of Relationships, Sex and Health Education that may be particularly sensitive. These include the areas of:

- Families and Close Positive Relationships;
- Growing and Changing; and
- Sex Education.

The requirements below are based on the PSHE Association Programme of Study, 2020.

Families and Close Positive Relationships

By the end of Year 2:

Families and Close Positive Relationships	Pupils will know: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • about the roles different people (e.g. acquaintances, friends and relatives) play in our lives. • how to identify the people who love and care for them and what they do to help them feel cared for. • about different types of families including those that may be different to their own. • how to identify common features of family life. • that it is important to tell someone (such as their teacher) if something about their family makes them unhappy or worried.

A CHARTER FOR FAITH SENSITIVE AND INCLUSIVE RELATIONSHIPS EDUCATION, RELATIONSHIPS AND SEX EDUCATION (RSE) AND HEALTH EDUCATION (RSHE)¹

We seek to provide Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education (RSE) and Health Education (RSHE), which will enable all pupils to flourish.

We commit:

1. To work in partnership with parents and carers. This will involve dialogue with parents and carers through all stages of policy development as well as discussing the resources used to teach their children and how they can contribute at home. It must, however, be recognised that the law specifies that what is taught and how it is taught is ultimately a decision for the school.
2. That RSHE will be delivered professionally and as an identifiable part of PSHE. It will be led, resourced and reported to parents in the same way as any other subject. There will be a planned programme delivered in a carefully sequenced way. Staff will receive regular training in RSHE and PSHE. Any expert visitors or trainers invited into the school to enhance and supplement the programme will be expected to respect the schools published policy for RSHE.
3. That RSHE will be delivered in a way that affords dignity and shows respect to all who make up our diverse community. It will not discriminate against any of the protected characteristics in the Equality Act² and will be sensitive to the faith and beliefs of those in the wider school community. RSHE will seek to explain fairly the tenets and varying interpretations of religious communities on matters of sex and relationships and teach these viewpoints with respect. It will value the importance of faithfulness as the underpinning and backdrop for relationships. It will encourage pupils to develop the skills needed to disagree without being disagreeable, to appreciate the lived experience of other people and to live well together.
4. That RSHE will seek to build resilience in our pupils to help them form healthy relationships, to keep themselves safe and resist the harmful influence of pornography in all its forms. It will give pupils opportunities to reflect on values and influences including their peers, the media, the internet, faith and culture that may have shaped their attitudes to gender, relationships and sex. It will promote the development of the wisdom and skills our pupils need to make their own informed decisions.

² The protected characteristics are age, disability, gender reassignment, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation, marriage and civil partnership and pregnancy and maternity.

- 5. That RSHE will promote healthy resilient relationships set in the context of character and virtue development. It will reflect the vision and associated values of the school, promote reverence for the gift of human sexuality and encourage relationships that are hopeful and aspirational. Based on the school's values it will seek to develop character within a moral framework based on virtues such as honesty, integrity, self-control, courage, humility, kindness, forgiveness, generosity and a sense of justice but does not seek to teach only one moral position.
- 6. That RSHE will be based on honest and medically accurate information from reliable sources of information, including about the law and legal rights. It will distinguish between different types of knowledge and opinions so that pupils can learn about their bodies and sexual and reproductive health as appropriate to their age and maturity.
- 7. To take a particular care to meet the individual needs of all pupils including those with special needs and disabilities. It will ensure that lessons and any resources used will be accessible and sensitive to the learning needs of the individual child. We acknowledge the potential vulnerability of pupils who have special educational needs and disabilities (SEND) and recognise the possibilities and rights of SEND pupils to high quality Relationships and Sex Education.
- 8. To seek pupils' views about RSHE so that the teaching can be made relevant to their lives. It will discuss real life issues relating to the age and stage of pupils, including friendships, families, faith, consent, relationship abuse, exploitation and safe relationships online. This will be carefully targeted and age appropriate based on a teacher judgment about pupil readiness for this information in consultation with parents and carers.
